Overnight Parking

Manage - Track - Report

"The simplicity of Overnight Parking has saved us time and resources. Now I can acess the information without bothering dispatch."

Police Pain Points

• No record management

• How can they prove someone called in when it is not documented?

• Officers need to come into station to get the paperwork to know what vehicles are on the parking list instead of staying on the street

The Frontline Advantage

• Maintain records with no purchase of hardware. Records never get deleted

• We time and date stamp when the call comes in and even give an approval option if the supervisor wants to allow the car to park overnight

• All web based platform allowing officers access to the data from the street

• Manage and track how many times the resident has called in

• We allow residents to enter in their own vehicles saving wasted phone calls to the dispatch center/desk officer.

Vacation Watch

Manage - Track - Report

"The ability to track our visits and notify the public is awesome. The residents love this... A little peace of mind when they are away"

Police Pain Points

- No official record management

- Most Departments track this with an email, pen and paper, or at best an excel spreadsheet

- Officers have no way of retrieving vacation watch lists from the street

- How to provide proof that officers did a premise check on property

The Frontline Advantage

- Maintain accurate records of when a vacation watch is requested

- Allow residents to enter vacation watches online with time frame and emergency contact information

- Time stamp when the officer does a premise check and record the data

- Email residents when a premise check is conducted by an officer

- All web-based platform allowing officers access to data right from the street

Directed Patrol

Manage - Action - Report

"The Directed Patrol module allows us to visually track the events, and report the actions taken and progress when called upon"

Police Pain Points

- No official record management

- Supervisors do not have a way to assign Directed Patrols to officers and track ticket data

- Need a way to track how many tickets are written during a specific Directed Patrol

The Frontline Advantage

- Maintain records and time stamp when officers conduct the Directed Patrol

- Keep track of how many tickets and warnings are issued

- Print out data in a PDF format to give to residents providing proof that officers have conducted the Directed Patrol

- All web-based platform allowing officers access to data right from the street

Condition Report

Manage - React - Report

"We are saving resources and time by sending the report details directly to our public works department"

Police Pain Points

- No official record management

- Poor communication between departments. Officers notify dispatch by radio of a Condition Report - then Dispatch emails public works or enters info into a database

- Police do not normally track this information as it is usually a public works situation

The Frontline Advantage

- Officers can enter in the data right from their squad cars which will go to the correct department to take action

- Data is saved and Condition Reports can be marked as completed

- Officers can see what other officers have entered in the condition report

- Ability to allow residents to enter in a condition report online

- All web-based platform allowing officers access to data right from the street

Pet Data Management
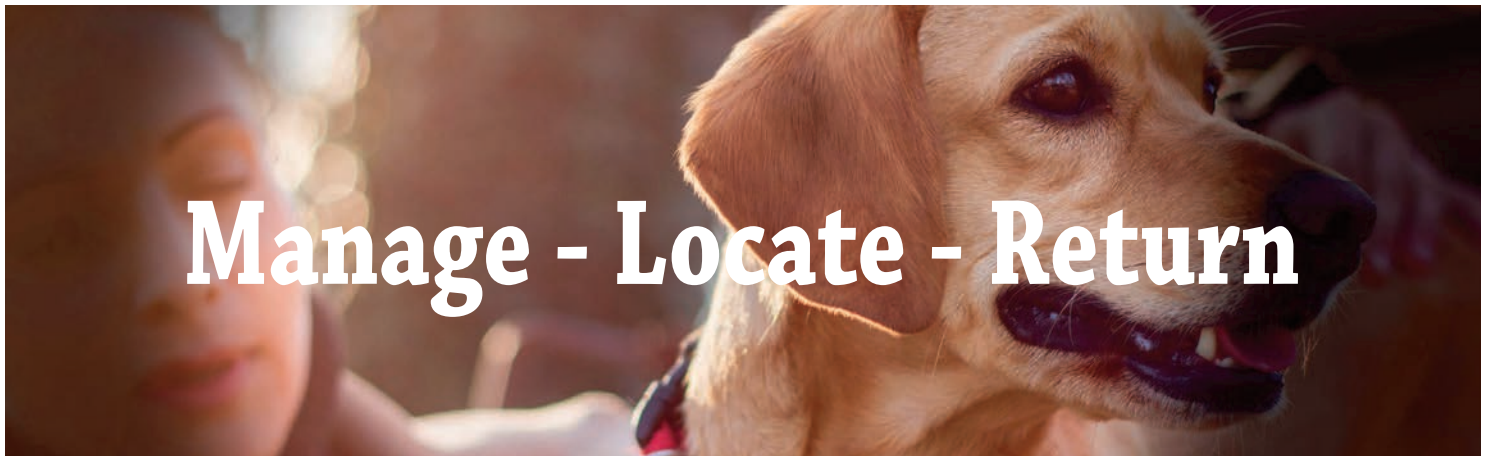

Manage - Locate - Return

"With real-time access to the pet database, we can easily and quickly find the owners and return the animals directly home"

Police Pain Points

- No consistent record management

- Difficult keeping an accurate database that is easily accessible

- Data entry is not easy

- Officers do not have access to information while on the street

The Frontline Advantage

- Clean accurate database

- Photos can be uploaded to allow officers more detail

- Don't have to ask dispatch to run registration numbers

- Multiple search options… by license number, rabies tag, breed, color, name, etc.

- All web-based platform allowing officers access to data right from the street

- Locate owners of lost and found pets quickly and return animals to the residence directly

Bike Data Management

Manage - Locate - Return

"When we locate a bike, it is easy to find the owner and return it directly. Minimizes our need to store the bikes in a warehouse"

Police Pain Points

- No consistent record management
- Difficult keeping an accurate database that is easily accessible
- Data entry is not easy
- Officers do not have access to information while on the street

The Frontline Advantage

- Clean accurate database
- Photos can be uploaded to allow officers more detail
- Quick access to bike and owner details
- Multiple search options… by serial number, registration number, make or model
- All web-based platform allowing officers access to data right from the street
